

2010 Annual International Contest on LTPP Data Analysis

2010 Announcement No. 1

Data Power

The Federal Highway Administrations (FHWA) Long Term Pavement Performance Program (LTPP) and the Transportation and Development Institute, American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE) are co-sponsoring the International Contest on LTPP Data analysis. The contest is designed to encourage university students, professors, and highway department engineers from around the world to get involved in using the LTPP database. The contest deadline is June 30, 2010. We would like for you to encourage all your colleagues and friends to participate. Please send all papers to Andrea Baker, (ASCE), abaker@asce.org.

The contest is judged on:

- Usefulness of product and potential benefit to end users,
- Originality of concept, demonstrated use of the LTPP database,
- Organization of paper, and presentation (including clarity and style).

The contest also has four distinct categories:

- Category 1, Undergraduate Students (Individual or team entry)
- Category 2, Graduate Students (Individual or team entry)
- Category 3, Partnership
- Category 4, Curriculum

Highlights (Total Prize per Category)
