National TIM Responder
Training Program Manager

*Greetings, National TIM
Training Leaders:*

2016 is off to a great start. As of July 11, 2016, your collective efforts have placed the SHRP2 TIM Responder Training Program at over 196,000 responders trained. A truly amazing accomplishment and one you should all be proud of! As you continue to train, I ask that you take another look at your responders-to-be-trained number and calculate whether you have enough trainers to reach your goal and over what period of time. People move on, so I encourage you to consider sponsoring another Train-the-Trainer (TtT) in your state, and neighboring state. Please feel free to contact Paul, Laurie or me if you have questions.

In January, FHWA conducted the first ever TIM Training Symposium at the National Fire Academics/Emergency Management Institute in Emmetsburg, Maryland. Spicrc ts were very high as 123 TIM training program leaders from 47 states met for the first time to discuss how to strengthen organizational partnerships, identify opportunities for improved performance, and identify barriers and other impediments to the training
