Hello,

You have been included on an email distribution list for the Highway Construction Workforce Partnership \(HCWP\) because of your interest in the Office of Innovative Program Delivery and workforce development. The HCWP, under the Center for Transportation Workforce Development (CTWD), is a partnership program between the highway industry, the public workforce system, and the education and training community to work together to identify, train, and place individuals into highway construction careers.

Clicking on the flyer will offer more about HCWP, explaining its playbook with eight strategies to help identify, train, and place workers in the Contractors' Workforce to meet resource needs to deliver highway construction jobs. It also includes additional benefits and resources for HCWP.

We are reaching out to you now to advise you that we are starting a quarterly e-newsletter that will share current news about HCWP and the industry's challenge to fill these jobs, find resources for partners to help identify, train, and place workers into these careers, and share success stories. Also, we will share industry networking and continuing education opportunities such as conferences and webinars. In the meantime, feel free to download and use the existing resources.

To help us make the newsletter of greatest value to you, we would like to hear from you to tell us what topics you are interested in. Also, please let us know the names and email addresses of individuals who you believe will have an interest in HCWP.

FHWA and the HCWP national partners have developed an HCWP Playbook that describes how to organize and implement an HCWP Program. If you have questions or would like more information, please feel free to reach out to Clark Martin, HCWP Program Manager at clark.martin@dot.gov or Chrisy Currier, On-the-Job-Training/Supportive Services (OJT/SS) Program Manager (HCWP Marketing), at christina.currier@dot.gov.

Karen A. Bobo
